PLANNING AND RECORDS · A FULL ACADEMIC YEAR

Homeschool Planner

Timetable, lesson log, attendance, reading record and progress sheets. Everything you need to plan a year and to evidence what has been covered.

WHAT IS INSIDE

- How to use this planner
- The year on one page, and a plan for each term
- A weekly timetable, and a weekly record to photocopy
- A daily lesson log
- An attendance register for a full term
- A reading log
- A progress sheet for every subject
- An end of term report
- An evidence checklist, if you are ever asked

The Striving Muslim Academy

One academic year · photocopy the weekly sheets · one folder per child

Written for a parent teaching at home. No training assumed, and nothing else to buy.

The year on one page

Fill this in once, in September, and put it at the front of the folder. It takes ten minutes and it is referred to all year.

This year we are aiming at

Examinations or assessments booked

Before you fill this in

Thirty nine weeks is a normal school year and thirty six of them are teaching weeks. Leave the other three in deliberately: one for illness, one to repeat a week that did not land, and one for Ramadan, Eid or a family event. A year planned with no slack is a year you will be behind in by November.

Reading log

Every book, including the ones you read to them and the ones they did not finish. Let them fill it in themselves from about seven.

The Striving Muslim Academy

Keep this one even if you keep nothing else

A year of titles is the most convincing single piece of evidence of a home education, and it is the one children enjoy filling in themselves. Include books you read aloud to them: those count, and at every age.

Progress, Qur'an

Three lines a year per subject. Written at the end of each term, in plain words, describing what they can actually do rather than giving a level or a mark.

SAMPLE PAGES

You have read a few pages. The pack is longer.

What you are holding is a short sample, taken from different parts of the pack so that you can see how a week is planned and what a child is actually asked to do, before you decide.

The complete pack, and the rest of the academic materials, are on our website: schemes of work for a parent teaching at home, and practice packs for the skills children get stuck on.
